A New Bookshop

A new bookshop has opened near (our) school. After school today, I asked my sister to go with me to the bookshop.

The bookstore is large, well-lit, clean and tidy, and the books and stationery in the display window and on the shelves are arranged in a very orderly way.

In the shop, there is a children's book corner, where there are books suitable for we children to read. On the floor, there is a carpet with white cloud designs, and by the wall, there are a small round table and a few chairs, where we can sit comfortably and read books. The lady shop assistant said that no matter how long we spend reading, the bookshop welcomes us.
